Frequently Asked Questions

> Why choose CRI Genetics?

▼ How does it work?

It's a refreshingly simple 3 step process:

You will receive our DNA testing kit within a few business days of your order.

Your kit will come with step-by-step instructions about how to collect and send us a DNA sample. Long story short, you rub your cheek with a swab we provide you, seal it in a bag (also provided), and mail it back to us with the postage paid envelope (also provided in the kit).

After 6-8 weeks of deep DNA analysis at our state-of-the-art laboratory, you will receive an email linking you to all your information on our website. Then, you just enjoy exploring your new treasure trove of information about yourself!

Here's A Little Sneak Peak Of What Your Reports Might Look Like...

Advance Ancestry Analysis

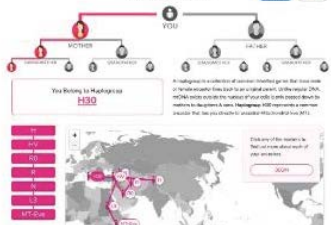

We have conducted cutting edge genetic research with the mitochondrial history of the human race to create your Advance Ancestry Report. This report is an analysis that draws both thousands of years, and spans of your last 5 generations and most recent ancestry.

The type of CR component you chose to analyze provides you with an unparalleled insight into your DNA. Our focus is the latest history of your lineage, patterns over the last several thousand years, before any migration took its toll on the world. Our focus is the latest history of your lineage, patterns over the last several thousand years, before any migration took its toll on the world.

The results you see below reflect the "today" ancestry in your DNA today. Populations of men and women that have thousands of years before most current nations, such as Germany or Spain, were created. However, your report will still include these countries and any in which it is likely that you identify which geographic location your genetic makeup came from.

mtDNA Haplo Analysis

You belong to Haplogroup H10

A haplogroup is a collection of marker mutations on the first chromosome that are inherited from your mother. mtDNA Haplogroups are the "signature" of your mother's lineage. Haplogroup H10 represents a common ancestor that has you directly in her lineage from 2011.

Click any of the markers to see an overview of your ancestry.

Frequently Asked Questions

Why Choose CRI Genetics?

CRI Genetics has a unique approach to genealogical testing. We are an advanced team led by a professional molecular geneticist who has been studying DNA for over 35 years with the help of Nobel Prize winning scientists. At CRI Genetics, we have the education, tools, and skills to provide you the most accurate estimation of your BioGeographical Ancestry.

We combine Genetics with Anthropology to trace the migrations of the human race. When we test your DNA against the samples from around the globe, we can figure out where you fit in the rich history of our species.

Our tests examine 642,824 specific markers across your entire genome. These markers are hand-picked and on the latest breakthroughs and advancements in genetic science. These markers are specially chosen for their relevance to tracing ancestry, so that we can provide you with the most statistically likely estimation of your heritage.

- How Does The 8 Week Efficiency Guarantee Work?
- Can Women Use CRI Genetics?
- How Accurate Are My Results?

Unfortunately, it's impossible to provide a 100% correct evaluation of your ancestry without having DNA samples from every ancestor going back 200,000 years.

However, we are able to provide a research-grade estimation of your BioGeographical Ancestry. Genealogical testing is much like predicting the weather: it's not possible to be 100% correct all the time, but we can at least be mostly correct most of the time by observing patterns, knowing history, and using statistics. In our case, our results are typically 99.9% accurate, which is a little better than trying to predict the weather.

Your "BioGeographical Ancestry" is a description of your place in the evolutionary and geographical history of our species. It's simply a breakdown of where your genes come from, according to the results of your DNA tests.

Some might define it as "race" or "ethnicity," but we don't feel that these terms adequately communicate the complexity of the science and history behind the information that we give you.

"It was a simple dna test... swab one cheek, then the other put into the postage-paid box."

instructions are straight forward and very simple. it was a simple dna test... swab one cheek, then the other put into the postage-paid box. One thing it didn't include was how fast it was going to get results. I did an ancestry test last year and took almost 10 weeks, this test from crigenetics took only 3 weeks to get results. Glad I did it. The detail in the report is amazing. I can see my breakdown by about 15 different countries, and even shows small percentages of where bits of my dna came from, like 2% Australian, 12% German, 1% south east Asian. Great test!

"So many years not knowing, this really clears up a lot of questions I've had about my self and where I come from."

“It's was so exciting to get my dna results. After waiting anxiously for about a month I was a bit nervous since I never knew my biological parents, I always thought I would be British or Scottish because a lot of people asked me if I was from Britain or Scotland the first time they met me, and boy was I in for a surprise. Finally the results came in, and I got some interesting results, I had only 6% British, 52% German, 25% Asian, no Scottish, and then a whole bunch of other countries in Europe. I was in for a surprise that I'm mostly German and Asian, now my grand children can grow up knowing where they come from. So many years not knowing, this really clears up a lot of questions I've had about my self and where I come from. And apparently there's a few famous people that share my haplo dna, which is very cool to know!

Wow, this sure surprised me. I was adopted very young and never knew where I came from, always thought I was Asian, I look Asian, and everyone has always thought I am Asian. So I took the cri genetics test and was / in for a surprise! I'm 14% native American, 18% Filipino, 30% latin American, and then some European breakdown and 3 % African, while only 2% Asian! Finally I have some answers about my background, it's a good feeling to be able to identify with a culture I'm from.

"As it turns out my mother had indian heritage, since the test came back as 37% from Britain, 10% Scottish, 3% Irish, and 28% Indian!"

Took only four days to get then kit, and two minutes to register swab my cheeks, then just sent it off in the return envelope it came with. About 4 weeks to get my results. My Mom was adopted as a child so I didn't know much from her side, although I knew I was British from my father's side so I wasn't entirely sure what to expect aside from the British portion. As it turns out my mother had Indian heritage, since the test came back as 37% from Britain, 10% Scottish, 3% Irish, and 28% Indian then some Asian, and African... I know I got the Scottish Irish and British from my father, but the Indian must have come from my mom. I would have never thought so since I'm as white as a Caucasian can be.

I also found out I'm related to the Duke of Hamilton from the 1600s by my Y haplo dna. what a cool find!

We have combined cutting-edge genetic research with the anthropological history of the human race to create your Advanced Ancestry Report. This report is an analysis that dates back thousands of years, well beyond your last 5 generations and most recent ancestry.

The team at CRI compared your DNA to reference populations that have been discovered and genotyped from all over the world. We factor in the known history of human migration patterns over the last several thousand years before assigning them to your report. This process allows us to link you, through your ancestral lines, to vast regions that span well across the planet.

The results you see below reflect the "closest" ancestries in your family history. Populations of men and women that lived thousands of years before most current nations, such as Germany or Britain, even existed. However, your report will still include these country and region names, in order to best help you identify which geographic location your genetic makeup areas from.

The screenshot shows a VLC media player window titled "Rec_10_14_20_CRI_website.mp4 - VLC media player". The browser window displays the CRI Genetics website. The website header includes "CRI GENETICS" and navigation links for "DNA TESTING", "COMPANY", "USER EXPERIENCE", "REPORTS", "FAQ", and "ORDER". There are "Login" and "Register" buttons. The main content area features a bar chart of genetic ancestry percentages:

Region	Percentage
Iberian	11.8%
Toscana Italian	9.9%
South Asian	5.6%
Gujarati Indian	1.9%
Punjabi	1.6%
Sri Lankan Tamil	1.3%
Bengali	0.8%

Below the chart, there is a text block titled "Northern Europe" with the following text:

Northern Europe can be loosely defined as the region that stretches through Denmark, Norway, Sweden, and Finland (just to name a few). This region was permanently settled by modern humans for the first time roughly 10,000 years ago or more, as the ice sheet covering most of Europe began to recede during the Stone Age.

Other regions listed in the chart include Finland, Norway, Denmark, Lithuania, Belarus, Poland, Sweden, Russia, Estonia, Latvia, Ukraine, and Kalinigrad.

At the bottom of the browser window, there are links for "Haplo Report" and "Bitter Taste Report". The VLC media player interface shows a progress bar at 13:29, a volume icon at 100%, and a "Chat with an Expert" button.
