The image is a composite graphic for a Maternal Haplogroup Report. At the top, a family tree diagram shows 'YOU' at the center, with lines connecting to 'MOTHER' and 'FATHER'. Below 'MOTHER' are 'GRANDMOTHER' and 'GRANDFATHER'. Below 'FATHER' are 'GRANDMOTHER' and 'GRANDFATHER'. Below the tree, a box states 'You Belong to Haplogroup B2'. To the right, a small text box explains: 'A haplogroup is a collection of common inherited genes that trace male or female ancestor lines back to an original parent. Unlike regular DNA, mtDNA exists outside the nucleus of your cells and is only passed down by mothers to daughters & sons. Haplogroup B2 represents a common ancestor that ties you directly to ancestral Mitochondrial Eve (MT-Eve)'. Below this, a list of haplogroups is shown: B4b, B4b-d-e-j, B4, B4-5, R0, R, N, L3, and MT-Eve. To the right of the list is a world map with red lines indicating migration paths between continents. Further right is a video player interface with a 'Play' button and a yellow cursor icon pointing to it.

What is a Maternal Haplogroup Report?

Let me tell you about Mitochondrial DNA (mtDNA). You inherit mtDNA specifically from your mother.

This is a completely different set of DNA than what we examine to compile your Ancestry Bundle. As a reminder, this is what your current Ancestry Bundle contains:

- Dual Ancestry Reports - One breakdown for your most recent family history, one breakdown reminder, this is what your current Ancestry Bundle contains:

CONTACT US

- Dual Ancestry Reports - One breakdown for your most recent family history, one breakdown for your family's distant past.
- Advanced Ancestry Timeline - A special tool that gives you an approximate date in history that each ancestry joined your family line. Find any surprises in your ancestry results (like a small percentage of Japanese or Italian you weren't expecting)? This report will show you WHEN in your family history those surprises came from.

These ancestry reports in your current bundle are based on your Autosomes, which are non-sex chromosomes. We examine specific locations on those chromosomes and compare them against relevant genetic markers to determine your ancestry.

When we examine your mtDNA to create a Maternal Haplogroup Report, we won't be looking at your chromosomes at all!

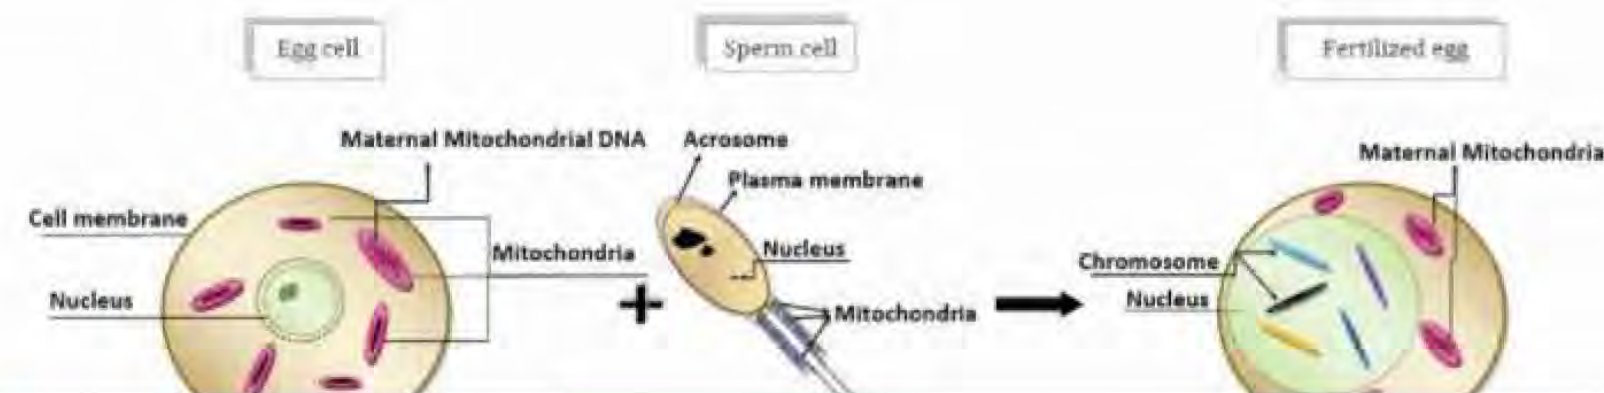

Here's what I mean:

The DNA sample you send us for your CRI Genetics DNA Test will contain cells from the tissue of your cheek. Your chromosomes are in the nucleus of those cells. Think of the nucleus as the "brain" of your cells.

Your mtDNA exists outside the nucleus of your cells, or outside the "brain" of your cells. Still in the body, but outside the brain. Your mtDNA is special because it comes directly from your mother at conception.

When an egg is fertilized, the chromosomes of the mother and father combine within the nucleus of the egg, while the mother's mtDNA stays outside of the nucleus of the egg.

Because the father's mtDNA never enters the egg cell, the mother's mtDNA inside the egg remains unchanged.

So why should you purchase a Maternal Haplogroup Report?

The biggest reason is because your mtDNA allows us to trace your direct maternal ancestry, from your mother up to your great great great great grandmother and beyond.

This allows us to trace your ancestry much farther back in time (up to 150,000 years!) and give you a much more thorough view of your family history.

The standard Ancestry Bundle uses 527,414 genetic markers on your Autosomes (non-sex chromosomes) to see what percentages of your DNA belong to various populations around the globe.

With a Maternal Haplogroup Report, you will receive a report that details how your maternal ancestors moved around the world throughout human history and the impact they had on the world.

Because the mtDNA examined for your Maternal Haplogroup Report examines a different set of DNA than the standard Ancestry Bundle, it also requires a different process.

Unlike the reports for the standard Ancestry Bundle, where we extract chromosomes from the nucleus of your cells, the Maternal Haplogroup Report requires us to extract mtDNA from outside the nucleus and put it through a completely different examination.

Unfortunately, this different process is the reason why Maternal Haplogroup Reports are offered as an extra add-on. The extra lab work affects the cost and efficiency of our services.

I'm still confident that we'll get your reports to you FAST, so your 15% OFF purchase is STILL protected by our unique Efficiency Guarantee. You get your report in less than 8 weeks or you get your money back.

How does it work?

With your purchase of the CRI Genetics DNA Test, we'll be comparing 527,414 genetic markers on your chromosomes against a database of thousands of individuals from around the world and identifying what "Haplogroups" your genes originate from.

Think of Haplogroups as the sort of "Founders" of entire groups of people.

When Mankind left Africa millions of years ago, many ancestors migrated to the Middle East and then spread all over the globe from there.

The Haplogroups you belong to—whether they're European, Asian, or African—are the Founder Groups who originated in those areas.

Because scientists have data from the DNA of several famous people throughout history, we can tell you which historical figures belong to the same Haplogroups and just might be related to you

While actually being "related" to them is a bit of a stretch, you likely share DNA with some celebrities or famous historical figures.

This would make them very distant cousins, although closer relationships are possible.

Prince William, Duke of Cambridge and heir to the British throne, was recently surprised to find out that he is part Gujarati Indian.

CONTACT US

Prince William, Duke of Cambridge and heir to the British throne, was recently surprised to find out that he is part Gujarati Indian.

His maternal great great great great grandfather (Princess Diana's great great great grandfather) was Theodore Forbes, a Scottish merchant who worked for the British East India Company.

While doing business in Surat, India, he met Eliza Kewark and fathered two children with her, one of which is Prince William's great great great grandmother.

That means there are likely people in India who will be surprised to find that they share DNA with British Royalty!

What surprises will you find in your family history?

Famous People Sharing Your mtDNA Haplogroup (Mother Lineage)

A haplogroup is a collection of common genetic markers that trace female (mtDNA) and male (Y-DNA) ancestry back to an original parent. Your mtDNA exists inside the nucleus of your cells is only passed down by mothers to daughters & sons. We use these haplogroups to trace our common ancestors all the way back to Mitochondrial Eve (mt)

Based on the analysis of your mtDNA, passed down to you from your mother's side, we discovered that several noteworthy individuals belonged to your haplogroup. These individuals include:

Nicolaus Copernicus (1473-1543), The Renaissance astronomer that formulated a model of the universe that placed the Sun rather than the Earth at the center of the universe. He was a mathematician, astronomer, physician, translator, government official and astronomer.

Empress Maria Theresa (1717-1780) was the only female ruler of the Habsburg dominions. She was the sovereign of Austria, Hungary, Croatia, Bohemia, Transylvania, Mantua, Milan, Lombardy and Galicia, the Austrian Netherlands and Parma. By marriage, she was Duchess of Sardinia, Grand Duchess of Tuscany and Holy Roman Empress. Her full list of consanguinity include Emperor Joseph II, Leopold II and Ferdinand I, Frederick William II of Prussia, Tsar Peter II of Russia, Queen Maria Antoinette of France, William IV of the Netherlands, Victor Emmanuel II of Italy, and Leopold I of Belgium.

Napoleon Bonaparte (1769-1821) was a French military and political leader who ruled as Emperor of the French from 1804 until 1815.

Get a 2nd DNA Kit for Friends or Family at a Discounted Price

Congratulations on your decision to join the thousands of people who flock to DNA testing services to find out more about themselves and their families and live healthier, happier lives.

This is a decision you won't regret.

However, I have another opportunity to show you...

We've found that many of our customers come back to order more tests after they see their reports...

Many want to have other family members get tested too and compare results...

Sometimes it's because there is a family mystery that needs to be solved (like a missing link in the family line)...

Sometimes it's just fun to look and see who inherited what traits and see the different percentages of ancestry and things like that...

Because believe it or not, you are likely to have different Ancestry percentages than your siblings (unless you're an identical twin)...

...And you'll most definitely have different results than your parents, aunts, uncles, and cousins.

This separate kit for a friend or family member contains these reports:

- 1) Dual Ancestry Reports - One breakdown for recent family history, one for the family's distant past.
- 2) Advanced Ancestry Timeline - The tool that gives an approximate year in history that each ancestry joined the family line.
- 3) YOUR CHOICE between the Maternal Haplogroup Report or the Paternal Haplogroup Report.

NOTE: If you're a woman, this is your chance to trace your Paternal Lineage.

If you purchase this additional kit at a discounted price and have either your father or brother take the test, you can Trace Your Paternal Lineage, assuming you and your brother have the same father.

You could even have a male cousin take the test and trace paternal lineage that way, if the two of you share a paternal grandfather.

How do I do this?

As you probably know by now, my proprietary genotyping algorithm examines 527,414 markers across your entire genome.

In order for my software to analyze your DNA, your sample gets attached to a "genotyping chip." Each chip only has room to process 48 DNA samples...

There's always a long line of DNA samples waiting to be extracted, genotyped then analyzed, which is why it can sometimes take 6-8 weeks to generate Ancestry reports—we can only analyze so many samples at a time.

But if you take advantage of this unique offer, I can push your DNA sample to the front of the line, ahead of thousands of other samples.

This will allow us to generate your Ancestry reports within 3 weeks from the time we receive your sample at the lab.

Not a problem if you're not interested! You'll still get your reports back within 8 weeks or you get your money back.
